To Whom It May Concern,

Since being introduced to our company (John Holland) in October 2012, Sovereign Hydroseal Pty Ltd has successfully completed a number of jobs for us on the Perth City Link Rail Alliance project. The sites ranged from rail and bus tunnels to active pedestrian thoroughfares.

The project was situated in Perth, Western Australia and as such suffers a range in temperature from + 45°C to - 2°C. To date we have never experienced any problems with Sovereigns NOH2O Grout, other products or their methods of application in these varying temperature ranges.

The work that Sovereign does for us can vary from underground tunnel construction joint sealing to concrete wall and floor fracture sealing. We have found that they are a highly motivated and extremely competent contractor that has always conducted themselves in a professional manner whilst on any of our sites.

Not only have we been more than happy with the successful completion of each project, we have been overwhelmed with the service provided by the Sovereign Group and its Directors Deon Van Dyk and Nico Grobler with respect to their professionalism and attention to safety.

Yours sincerely
